State Demands 250 Ft. Road to Happy

The State Highway Commission has demanded a right-of-way of 250 feet between Canyon and Happy to construct a four-lane highway on No. 87. A letter from the State was received Friday, although the State acted on Tuesday of last week.

No action was taken on the letter at the fourth Monday meeting of the Commissioners Court Monday. The State Highway Commission will be requested to answer why it has changed its mind so radically.

The widest right-of-way that had previously been requested for this piece of No. 87, covering 16 miles, was 200 feet. Swisher County to the South has a highway on No. 87 of four-lanes with only 160 feet right-of-way.

According to the recent map of highway needs in Texas, published by the State Highway Commission, it is likewise proposed to build a four-lane highway from Canyon west to the county line. If the same width right-of-way of 250 was requested, it would mean that Umbarger would be entirely moved back, or the highway would be built around the town.

The State Engineers are supposed to be in Canyon Wednesday to set the stakes for the four lane underpass on Highway 87, north of Canyon, which has been under fire for several months. At that time Commissioners P. H. Baber is going to find out what the State is going to do with all of the land it is asking in Randall county, and what the State will require of Randall county on Highway 60 to the west.

"It looks like the State was determined to choke off highway requests from the various counties by asking the impossible of counties in the way of right-of-way," stated a member of the Commissioners Court Tuesday. This is just what has happened in a number of north Texas counties, which are refusing to meet the demands of the State Highway Commission, because of excessive right-of-way costs.

Governor Shivers Leads

The Texas Election Bureau closed its work Tuesday after the County Committees of Texas ended the count of ballots cast in the first primary of last Saturday. There are only 2,000 votes unreported to the State when the count ended. Governor Shivers was 6,150 under the majority of all ballots cast, which will require a second primary on August 28. Only two other offices will be filled in this election, that of Supreme Court Place 1, and Court of Criminal Appeals.

According to the latest report, Governor Shivers led with 666,226 votes; Ralph Yarborough had 642,374; J. J. Holmes polled 19,983; and Cyclone Davis 16,147. A total of 1,344,730 votes was cast. The Governor carried 133 counties; Yarborough 119; the other two candidates, none.

On the August ballots will be the names of Few Brewster, candidate for Supreme Court, Place 1, with 461,167 votes, and Alfred M. Scott with 318,372 votes. For the Court of Criminal Appeals, the vote will be between Lloyd W. Davidson, with 328,800 votes; and Alan Haley with 241,002 votes.

There will be only three races in the August run-off, with the race for Governor of Texas for the coming two years being the center of attraction. Governor Shivers is fighting for a third term, being opposed by Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney, whom Shivers easily defeated two years ago.

The other two contests are for Place No. 1 on the Supreme Court, and for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Randall county voters followed the state trend in re-electing Ben Ramsey, Lieutenant Governor; John Ben Shepperd, Attorney General; Lyndon Johnson, United States Senator; and Congressman Walter Rogers.

There will be only one new face in the official family of Randall county starting January 1st. Mrs. Mavis Harden Hill defeated Mrs. Ethel Mullins for District Clerk.

The only other county wide election was for tax assessor and collector, Bill Money, the incumbent, defeating Roland Black for this office.

Charles Y. Johnson was returned to the Commissioners Court by the voters of Precinct 4, with Johnson defeating H. Barnes Samuels in the only race for a place on the Commissioners Court.

The full vote of Randall county is published on another page of this issue.

Addition To Sunday School Plant Planned

The Methodist Church has taken steps leading toward the construction of an addition to the Sunday School plant of the church.

The First Quarterly Conference held last week at the church over which Dr. Earl Hamlett presided, approved the appointment of a steering committee which will look into the plans for the addition, to be built west of the church at the south end of the building.

When it is assured that sufficient funds are available for the project, another session of the Quarterly Conference will be called and work will proceed with the building.

The Sunday School has grown to such an extent that building the addition to the church has been considered as very essential for several months.

W. T. Studes Write of Trip To the East

(Editor's Note: More than 70 West Texas State College students are now on a 25-day field geography tour of the eastern portion of the United States and Canada. A publicity committee on the first of two buses mailed from Richmond, Va., the following description of the first few days of the tour. Members of the committee are Miss Charlsie Mae Harding, chairman, Clayton, N. M.; Twila Daugherty, Panhandle; Maxine Robinson, Sundown; June Dunham, Panhandle; Dorothy Sims, Happy; and Mrs. C. M. Duckwall, Oklahoma City.)

The first contingent of the WTSC geography field tour, which left Canyon Friday, July 16, has now covered 1710 miles through 8 states. Some of the miles have been long; some of the stops have been hot; the public address system hasn't operated very successfully, and Dr. (Murry B.) Measamer has lectured himself hoarse; the bus developed a short out of Memphis, Tenn., and gave Mr. Rhea, our very efficient and genial driver, a few rough minutes and put all of us to bed a little later than planned. But all of these have been minor details and haven't, for an instant, dampened the enthusiasm of the group for all of the interesting and educational sights we have seen.

Through Arkansas we began to realize we had really left the high, dry Plains behind, as we viewed mile after mile of cotton and rice fields through this rich, humid sub-tropical region. We crossed "Old Man River" at Memphis and went on to visit Wilson Dam at Florence, Ala., the nucleus unit of T.V.A., and one of several dams in this system built along the Tennessee River to furnish power, flood control, conservation, irrigation, for a seven-state area. Our drive from Florence to Chattanooga, Tenn., was through the very heart of this vital region.

At Chattanooga, we drove to the top of Lookout Mountain for a tour of this historic site of a strategic Civil War battleground and a breathtaking night view of the famed old Southern city.

On Monday we "aahed" and "oohed" our way through the towering peaks and fabulous vegetation of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, divided between Tennessee and North Carolina. Stops at Clingman's Dome, Nefound Gap, and the Cherokee Indian Reservation used up practically all of our superlatives and enough kodak film to finance another tour!

Our trip Tuesday has been through the tobacco country of North Carolina and Virginia and was highlighted by lunch in the company cafeteria and a conducted tour through the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, the largest tobacco manufacturing plant in the world.

For tomorrow (Wednesday), we are looking forward to a grand tour of historic Richmond, capital of Virginia, and nearby Williamsburg, Yorktown, and Jamestown, famous shrines of American history.

Consider Problem at Fort Benning

Cadet James R. Broome, son of J. J. Broome, Kellerville, (left), and Joe A. Bailey, A/Dir of Public Service at West Texas State College (right), ponder a point under discussion during Mr. Bailey's recent visit to the 1954 GMS ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Benning, Ga. Cadet Broome is a student at West Texas State, currently attending the summer camp.

During the latter part of each ROTC Summer Camp, officials of the colleges and universities having cadet representation are invited to visit the particular camp.

Recently more than 28 officials of senior educational establishments accepted an invitation to visit the 1954 Fort Benning General Military Science ROTC Summer Camp.

While at the home of the mighty Infantry Center and School, the officials were privileged to witness various training activities, talk with their respective cadet representatives concerning the camp and eat "chow" in an Army (cadet) dining hall.

The Fort Benning 1954 GMS Reserve Officers Training Corps Camp, being conducted at Fort Benning, Ga., began on June 19 and will terminate on July 30. There are 1257 cadets representing 38 colleges and universities from eight states o fthe Third and Fourth Army areas.

The objective of camp training is to supplement the instructions received by the student at his institution, much of which is theoretical in nature, by additional applicatory training in order to qualify him for appointment in the Regular Army or Army Reserve. Camp training is essentially of the individual and small unit type, with the student receiving marksmanship training and experience in the performance of tactical, technical, and administrative duties in the field.

During the final week of camp, cadets will march into the field for a 72 hour problem, a practical application of platoon and company operations.

The Deputy Camp Commander is Colonel Richard J. Werner, PMS&T of Clemson Agricultural College, Clemson, South Carolina.

Cadets attending the Camp are junior and senior college students enrolled in the advanced course, senior ROTC, at an accredited educational institution.

Electric Wiring Causes Small Fire

A small fire in the alley back of the Stevenson building, formerly the home of the First National Bank, Friday night, caused considerable excitement and brought out the entire fire department to the scene.

The fire was caused by a short in the electric wiring. The wires had been run into the building through conduit which rusted and caused a short.

Electricians soon repaired the wiring, as the entire two adjoining buildings were without light or power due to the fire.

Need of More Funds; Drive Against Polio

In spite of the fact that the March of Dimes in January brought in 55 million dollars and was the largest in the history of the nation, the polio fund has been exhausted and needs 20 million dollars more to carry on the fight.

More than 6½ million children have volunteered to receive free gamma globulin to fight off polio.

Special folders will be mailed in the near future telling of the need of this drive, and containers will be placed at focal points in the county to receive funds for the drive.

Polio is on the increase throughout the nation, and the need for immediate action is very important states Mr. Gibson. He hopes that the reply to the call for additional funds will be met promptly.

Young children are more likely to get the disease than the older ones, states the bulletin which Mr. Gibson is having mailed out.

45 Years Is a Long Time To Work and Plan on Job

On Friday, July 29th, 1910, a youthful chap rolled into Canyon by Santa Fe train, which arrived about 10 o'clock in the morning.

He was coming to his first real job, publisher of The Canyon News.

Naturally a little nervous, little sleep came during the night, and he looked out of the Pullman window and saw the sand, bluffs and bushes around Canadian. It was not a very pretty sight for a young fellow who hoped to behold better sights.

It was not until the train pulled into Pampa that he really caught a glimpse of the Plains and saw row crops, grass, cattle and rolling prairies. Pampa was not much of a town 45 years ago, but the surrounding country was beautiful.

As the train pulled on toward Canyon, you can only imagine the contemplative gaze of the eager youth as he looked upon the rapidly changing scene, and saw for the first time the sights of a beautiful Panhandle. Rain had just fallen, and although the crops were late, the scene was a beautiful sight to behold.

Canyon was not much of a town, with its population of 1400. But who cared. It was home; and a place in which to work and earn a living.

In spite of five years spent working as a printer and linotype operator, little was known by this gangling youth of actual newspaper operations. He had everything to learn! Since the men who induced him to make the plunge were leaving town early Sunday morning. Trial by error was the only way to ascertain the right and wrong way to do things. No doubt there were more things done wrong than were accomplished right.

The years have passed by. These have been happy years, and somewhat fruitless years. They have not produced so much as some persons have gained in a financial manner, but nevertheless they have been years of generous remuneration to one who was willing to throw himself into his job and work hard at the job.

Yes, you have already guessed that this is a short biographical sketch of the publisher of The Canyon News who has worked with the people of Canyon for the benefit of Canyon during the past 45 years.

Only one publisher in the Panhandle has been longer on the job than the publisher of The News. We are very, very grateful to the fine people of Randall county for allowing us to stay and be a part of this community during the past 45 years. None of us are absolutely satisfied with the accomplishments of the 45 years, but we are most charitable to those who have come into this community and done their best to provide a better home for themselves and their families.

No one knows just what the future holds forth, but the present was never brighter than the present on this July morning of 1954.

David Sutherland Was a Newspaperman Men Held in Respect

Perhaps very few of our readers ever heard of David Sutherland, Sr.

He was editor of the old country weekly back in Montezuma, Iowa, where we first received our training as a newspaper man. It was under the editorship of E. E. Blanchard that we chased type lice and kindred printing shop jobs as the freshman devil.

Dave Sutherland is dead. He had been in charge of "our" old weekly newspaper for 30 years. The fact that his paper was 99 years old indicated just how old people as well as newspapers get in that country. His town is the home of our cousin, Dr. E. B. Williams, who still practices medicine at 85 years of age.

The heading of his paper reads, "Poweshiek County's Picture Paper." To carry out this claim, there were 24 pictures in the issue which carried the account of the death of our friend. On the ears of the paper, is printed the fact that the paper won first place in Iowa 1948 to 1953; and second in the nation in 1953 for its pictorial work.

The publishers of Iowa and the nation shed tears of real remorse at the passage of one of God's noblemen like Dave Sutherland, but rejoice that his imprint on the sands of time will not be removed as the prints turn to granite.

Peace be to his ashes.

Life Insurance Booklet Has Many Interesting Stories

An interesting booklet on Life Insurance came to our desk the other day to which we hope to refer many times in the future.

On page 44 is a most revealing statement. There are 793 Life Insurance Companies in existence in the nation. Of this number Texas leads with 215 companies. The only State in the Union with more than 30 companies is Louisiana which has 80 companies. Big New York has only 26 companies.

Texas soil has been such fertile ground for insurance companies. It looks as if our State government has been entirely too lax in enforcing our insurance laws, or the legislature has been too lenient in passing laws which protect the insurance companies rather than the policy holders.

Ethics Are Something Which May Be Easily Shifted

Business ethics are of a matter of conjecture—some people have them and others don't. Recently we ran onto an old yarn making the rounds again, and maybe some of the younger generation hereabouts have not heard it:

You know; every line of business or profession has a pet peeve, and the one that gripes a newspaperman most is when one man keeps another from advertising under a so-called "code of ethics." Naturally, that hurts our business, and yet at the same time we have numerous "news releases" from many such groups — one of those deals where it is fun to ride if you don't have to pay for it.

Anyhow, we started out to tell a story about ethics. This fellow says, "Vot is ethics? Vell, I vill show you: Suppose a lady comes into the store, buys a lot of goods and pays me $10 too much when she goes out. Then ethics comes in. Should I, or should I not, tell my partner?"

The busy executive is the man who has a hard time keeping his subordinates working.

For One Time We Agree With The Claim of the Commies

Yes, for once in our lifetime, we agree with the Russian Reds!

The official organ of the Reds call the Indo-China cease fire agreement "a great communist victory." We agree.

Yet, let it be remembered that poor old battle tired France kept up a war for eight long years when the French people knew they could not win; and when the people back home refused to support the war through taxation; and refused to give the natives any semblence of freedom by a division of territory, which they knew they would eventually lose to the Reds.

We were told a few months ago that the loss of China would be disastrous; yet we lost this vast territory.

We were told that to allow the Reds a foothold in Indo-China would be an admission that the free world could not hold out against the Reds. But we lost out.

The armistice will allow the Reds the opportunity of massing their troops at another vital spot for the purpose of attacking free world troops.

In the meanwhile we continue spending billions of dollars—our tax money—on the hopeless job of holding the communist troops in control.

The Reds are fighting a winning battle—without losing a man or a dollar's worth of equipment from Moscow. Their ultimate aim is to disrupt the North Atlantic pact in Europe, and to slip China into the United Nations, of which we are paying approximately three-fourths of the cost of operation.

We have bragged too long and too loud about the wonderful wealth and achievement of our nation. Russia is seeing to it that we are gradually spending ourselves broke!

Booze Advertising Fails to Tell Whole Story of Effects of Liquor

We have been amazed at the audacity of liquor advertisements. The distillery pictures the most beautiful homes; the best dressed men; and attractively gowned women among their customers.

Perhaps they are among those who use the stuff. But why not picture the other side?

Why do not the distilleries line up the drunks, who are housed in the jails of the country because of booze?

Why do they not photograph the men and women who stagger along the streets at night, looking in vain for a clean place where they may rest for a few hours?

Why do they not run in these ads the pictures of human wrecks who draw their pistols and kill in their fit of drunkenness?

Why do they not run a series of pictures of car wrecks in which men, women and children are killed or permanently injured because of liquor?

No, you will never see these pictures appearing in the advertisement of any of the liquor houses.

Who Will Win the Elections Saturday in State of Texas?

Since this is written Wednesday afternoon before election, we have not the least idea who will be elected Governor on July 24.

Talked with a group of newspaper men down at Fort Worth last month. Asked what we thought about the election, we gave this answer:

"Governor Shivers has two strikes against him: First, his fight against the National Democratic ticket; and second, his third term race."

If the Governor is defeated, one or both of these will cause his downfall.

We were quite interested in a statement of Herbert Hilburn in the Plainview Evening Herald the other day. He protested the mud which had been thrown by both Shivers and Yarborough. "Both were good men at heart, and Texas will not go to the dogs if either is elected," says Hilburn. However, he advocated the re-election of Shivers because he was more experienced.

Just turn to anothr page and you will read the returns of the vote in Randall county.

Cost of Filing Useless Papers

About 25 years ago we were told that Texas must build an office building in order to have a place to file all of the useless and time-exhausted records of the state.

Now comes the admission that there are 10 billion sheets of paper stored in Washington in three million filing cabinets. This cost Uncle Sam a billion dollars to pay the wages of 250 filing clerks to keep track of all this waste paper.

That count was taken before McCarthy hit Washington!

Most of the human race's cowardice comes on street corners and in social gatherings when tongues are held and frankness and truth get little play.

The schools continue to produce better boys and girls every year, despite the dire predictions of some members of the older generations.

If you know of a news story, this newspaper would appreciate a call, and is always appreciative of the cooperation of local citizens.

If hydrogen power is as potent as they say, perhaps some of it could be used to penetrate some of the thick skulls that plague mankind.

The medicine men who used to care for the Indians always maintained a united front as far as the tribe was concerned.

Every city and town suffers from an oversupply of would-be leaders, and they always seem to be short of followers.

What has happened to those people who thought it was wrong to take an automobile ride on Sunday.

Regular exercise is the secret of old age.

Molly Bailey's circus! Maybe you've heard your father and mother or your grandparents tell about attending this famous show. In the Frost Enterprise some years ago, Mike Campbell wrote about Molly Bailey and her circus:

Born in Arkansas many years before the Civil War, she grew into womanhood there and shortly after her husband marched away with the boys in gray, Molly herself became a Confederate spy. It was not, however, until after the war that Molly Bailey, known throughout Texas as "Aunt Molly," went into the circus business and by that time she was a widow with several sons who performed in her show.

For almost 50 years, "Aunt Molly" and her circus toured Texas, and in all but one or two of these years, she moved her show on wagons drawn by draft horses.

A woman of very keen business judgment, "Aunt Molly" literally ran her show from "top to bottom." She did all the hiring. She did all the firing. She handled all the money, the buying, the routing — and everything else that was done in the managerial line. However, she was not a performer herself.

Oldtimers who remember "Aunt Molly" will recall that she never forgot a face or a name and that her routine, when she entered a town, never varied from year to year.

She had a small show; she played only "one night stands," in small towns and she "back-tracked" year after year, appearing in the same communities. As a result, her acquaintance was wide and people had a universal respect for her.

Mrs. Bailey wasn't stingy, but she was thrifty. Yet she didn't make money her principal goal. Throughout the almost half-century of her circus business, she kept her prices at a minimum and no visitor to her lot was ever "gypped" by "grifters" who in those days, leeched on almost every circus in the land.

A woman of great honesty and high moral principles, she kept her show and its personnel absolutely clean.

When "Aunt Molly" reached a town in which she was showing, she left the lot as soon as equipment was landed there and made a "sashay" through the business district.

She called at every business house and the owners and their employees were glad to see her. She was "Aunt Molly" to all of them; they were "Bill" and "Jim" and "Joe" to her. She made a purchase at every business place, if no more than an apple at the grocery store and a spool of thread at the dry goods establishment.

She inquired of every family from grandpa to the children and she was a regular Walter Winchell when it came to keeping track of new arrivals both past and future.

Because she was so popular, and because of her service as a spy for the Confederacy, Mrs. Baily was never asked to pay a license fee to show in any community.

She was accepted as a part of every town she visited and became the greatest entertainment institution of the Texas Frontier.

Windsor-Shryoc Wedding Ceremony Read in St. Andrews Episcopal Church

MRS. ROBERT KINSOLVING SHRYOC

Nancy Melissa Windsor, daughter of R. G. Windsor and the late Mrs. Windsor, 4406 West Second, Amarillo, became the bride of Robert Kinsolving Shryoc, 2712 Duncan Drive, Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shryoc, Fort Worth, at 8 p. m. Saturday, July 24. Dr. Smythe Lindsay read the double ring ceremony in Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, Amarillo.

On either side of the large altar was an arrangement of white gladioli, white Majestic daisies and white pom-pom chrysanthemums. The small altar was also decorated with all white flowers. The background was of jade palm trees with white candelabras and white tapers. White satin bows and white gladioli decorated and marked the center aisle. White tapers in garland standards and a white satin aisle runner completed the decorations of the bridal aisle.

Ralph Ater, organist, and Mrs. David Brown, soprano, provided a musical prelude to the wedding ceremony. Mr. Ater played "Cathedral Prelude" by Garriel Bierne; "When Thou Art Near" by J. S. Bach; "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee" by Beethoven; "Communion" by Richard Purvis; "For the Beauty of the Earth" by Conrad Kocher; and "Carillon" by Leo Sowerby.

Mrs. Brown sang "Set Me As a Seal" by Joseph W. Clokey, following which Mr. Ater played the hymn "Amsterdam" on the St. Andrew's organ chimes immediately preceding the procession. The wedding party entered to "Processional, from 'A Wedding Suite'" by Joseph W. Clokey.

At the place in the ceremony where the couple moved for the chancel steps to the altar rail, Mrs. Brown sang "May The Grace of Christ Our Savior," an Episcopal wedding hymn. The recession was "Grand Choeur in C" by Cesar Franck.

Shelia Cole, Shirley Fautt, Alice Ann Shryoc, Mrs. Jack Newby, Mrs. Ray Snead, Jr., and Mrs. E. J. McCartt, Jr., bridesmaids, and Tennessee Morris, maid-of-honor, wore identical gowns of gold net styled with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. Their head dresses were gold net and pearls. They carried cascade bouquets of white Majestic daisies, white gladioli and white roses trimmed with white satin and net.

Catharine Cline and Diane Thurman, flower girls, wore costumes identical to the bride's attendants and carried white baskets trimmed with satin and net and filled with rose petals.

Ring bearer, Joe Bob McCartt, dressed in white formals, carried the rings on a white satin pillow trimmed with white lace.

Kelly Shryoc, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Ushers were Joe Coffman, Pete Frederick, H. A. Davidson, Cecil Morgan, Jr., all of Fort Worth, Jimmy Walker and Gene McCartt, III.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was a vision of loveliness in a gown fashioned of heavy slipper satin in a rich ivory shade with classic lines of a fitted princess style with sleeves tapering into deep points. The full length skirt extended into an Empress train. A veil of sheer ivory illusion extended to the tip of the train. An over veil was an heirloom of Brussell's lace fastened to a coronet of tiny pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. She carried a white prayer book with white orchid and showered with streamers of white satin ribbon and stephanotis.

Mrs. Shryoc, mother of the groom, wore a gray lace dress with a pink stole and pink hat. Her corsage was pink camillias.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party was feted with a reception at the Amarillo Country Club. The bride's table was covered with an Italian lace cloth with silver candelabras holding white tapers flanking the centerpiece of white roses, Majestic daisies and white pom-pom chrysanthemums in silver holder. Mrs. J. A. Whittenburg, Jr., aunt of the bride, served the multi-tiered wedding cake. Miss Charlene Cline served ice cream molded into white and gold wedding bells. Mrs. Glynn Morris, aunt of the bride, served punch. Miss Bonne Rhea Liston presided at the guest book.

Assisting at the serving tables were Miss Georgia Hanks and Miss Evelyn Whittenburg. The young ladies in the house party were cousins of the bride. All members of the house party wore corsages of white roses.

For an extended wedding trip of undisclosed destination the bride traveled in an original by Hattie Carnegie fashioned from Italian silk linen in an alabaster tone. The pencil slim skirt was topped with a fitted jacket with self covered buttons accenting the classic contour. Point of interest of the suit was the unusual cut of the collar with a small rhinestone pin at the throat.

After August 25th the couple will be at home at 2712 Duncan Drive, Amarillo.

Mrs. Shryoc, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Windsor, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. George A. Whittenburg, is a graduate of Amarillo High School, where she received many honors.

Mr. Shryoc graduated from Paschal High School in Fort Worth and attended TCU and the University of Texas where he pledged Delta Tau Delta. He is a veteran of service in the Navy and is now associated in business with his father.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 2a of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be repealed and that Sections 1 and 2 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Fourth: All persons convicted of any felony, subject to such exceptions as the Legislature may make.

"Section 2. Every person subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications who shall have attained the age of twenty-one (21) years and who shall be a citizen of the United States and who shall have resided in this State one (1) year next preceding an election and the last six (6) months within the district or county in which such person offers to vote, shall be deemed a qualified elector; and provided further, that any voter who is subject to pay a poll tax under the laws of the State of Texas shall have paid said tax before offering to vote at any election in this State and hold a receipt showing that said poll tax was paid before the first day of February next preceding such election. Such affidavit shall be made in writing and left with the judge of the election. The husband may pay the poll tax of his wife and receive the receipt therefor. In like manner, the wife may pay the poll tax of her husband and receive the receipt therefor. The Legislature may authorize absentee voting. And this provision of the Constitution shall be self-enacting without the necessity of further legislation. Any member of the Armed Forces of the United States or component branches thereof, or in the military service of the United States, may vote only in the county in which he or she resided at the time of entering such service so long as he or she is a member of the Armed Forces."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional amendments shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at the General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1954, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the amendment of Sections 1 and 2 of Article VI of the Constitution of Texas so as to confer the privilege to vote upon members of the regular establishment of the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force, or component branches thereof, who are otherwise qualified electors; and so as to limit voting by persons in the military service of the United States to the county in which the voter resided at the time of entering such service; and for the repeal of Section 2a of Article VI of the Constitution, which now permits qualified electors in military service to vote without payment of a poll tax in time of war."

"AGAINST the amendment of Sections 1 and 2 of Article VI of the Constitution of Texas so as to confer the privilege to vote upon members of the regular establishment of the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force, or component branches thereof, who are otherwise qualified electors; and so as to limit voting by persons in the military service of the United States to the county in which the voter resided at the time of entering such service; and for the repeal of Section 2a of Article VI of the Constitution, which now permits qualified electors in military service to vote without payment of a poll tax in time of war."

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

Here's Chicken Loaf to Tempt Tired Palates

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

HERE'S a perfect summertime main dish: Diced chicken, celery, green pepper and pimento molded in clear gelatin.

Molded Chicken Loaf
(12 servings)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin, 3½ cups cold chicken stock, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lime juice, ¼ teaspoon Tabasco, 3 cups diced cooked chicken, 1 cup diced celery, ¼ cup diced pimento, ½cup chopped green pepper.

Sprinkle gelatin on 1½ cup cold stock. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add to remaining 2 cups stock. Stir in salt, lime juice and Tabasco.

Chill until the mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Mix in chicken, celery, pimento and green pepper. Turn into an 8-cup loaf pan; chill until firm.

Unmold on platter; garnish top with toasted almonds, if desired.

Note: Four bouillon cubes dissolved in 3½ cups hot water may be substituted for the chicken stock. Reduce salt to ½ teaspoon. Recipe may be reduced by one half and molded in 6 individual molds or small loaf pan.

Another molded main dish—this one using leftover baked ham or canned luncheon meat. The meat and cheese provide first-class protein and the gelatin adds some good protein also. Therefore, the recipe produces a good "meaty" main dish for hot-weather eating.

Molded Ham 'n Cheese Loaf
(8-10 servings)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon Tabasco, 1½ cups salad dressing, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1½ cups finely diced celery, ½ cup finely diced green pepper, 1½ cups ground ham, ½ cup grated American cheese.

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water to soften. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add salt, lemon juice and Tabasco; cool. Gradually stir into salad dressing; mix in remaining ingredients.

Turn into a 5-cup loaf pan; chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with spiced peach halves filled with pickle relish and salad greens.

Note: Cut recipe in half to fill 4 to 5 individual molds.

Here's chicken loaf in a new, taste-tempting form that will delight you.

Randall County 4-H girls recently completed a clothing workshop in four lessons under the direction of Miss Lou Ella Patterson, home demonstration agent, in the high school homemaking lab.

During the first lesson, the girls saw slides on good styles suited to their figures and visited business places in Canyon and Amarillo to note new fashions and the latest in fabrics.

At their next meeting the girls cut their dresses; the third session was for fitting of the garments, and the final meeting was devoted to professional finishings.

Both the girls and Miss Patterson gave group demonstration on the correct methods of sewing.

The dresses which the girls made will be modeled for county competition in the County Dress Review the third week of August.

Girls completing the course were Betty Hoffman, Mary Janssen, Evelyn Hoffman, Phyllis Beckman, and Alby Kuehler.

The girls wish to express their sincere appreciation for the help rendered by Mrs. A. J. Lindemann and Mrs. Max Hoffman, adult leaders, and to Miss Patterson and the Canyon school board for the use of the homemaking department at the high school.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Some in Washington claim they see no great difference between this and former administrations.

* * *

While this viewpoint is debatable there is no doubt present Administration has been successful bringing businessmen into government.

* * *

But business experience is of little use unless utilized.

* * *

Such a problem faces Postmaster-General Arthur Summerfield, heading operation of a force of 552,194 employes.

* * *

The Post Office is a very fine service except for one thing.

* * *

It loses a lot of money every year. Losses now approach the $½ billion per year mark. No businessman can contemplate red figures with ease, even when red figures are forced by law.

* * *

At present taxes subsidize much corporation advertising.

* * *

A first class letter costs three cents per ounce, or a rate of 48c per pound. The letter must be addressed to an individual.

* * *

But big firms sending out advertising matter, coupons, and other material get a rate as low as 10 cents per pound.

* * *

In addition, they need not be addressed. Just sent to "occupant" of the street, address and Post Office must deliver with reasonable promptness.

* * *

Thus for 1½ cents big firms can require U. S. postal service to be errand boys delivering advertising material right to the door.

* * *

If the firm decides to put out a printed advertising booklet of 24 pages or more, and sends them to every residence, the charge for this messenger service is only 10 cents per pound.

* * *

But anyone sending by parcel post a birthday present to Aunt Emma must pay 16 cents a pound if she is in the immediate local area, 24 cents per pound if Aunt Emma resides at the opposite end of the nation.

* * *

Even mail order catalogs are tax-subsidized. While parcel post rates range from 18 to 22c for the first pound, and 1.45 to 18.05c for each additional pound, the big mail order catalog rate ranges from 10 to 18c for the first pound, 1.5c to 11c for each additional pound.

* * *

In other words, under the present laws, the general users of the postal service pay twice to subsidize the huge floods of direct mail advertising released by the paying nations. The public pays both in taxes and by huge flood of subsidized advertising.

* * *

There is an attempt in Congress to remedy this to some degree. Congressman E. H. Rees, chairman of House Post Office Committee reports committee has recommended direct mail pieces now carried to householders for 1½ cents be raised to 2 cents. This would be partial solution but still leaves direct mail advertising, especially in booklet and catalog form, enjoying a huge rate of subsidization.

* * *

While doing more business is normally considered a way to prosper, Post Office can't even afford to handle large part of present business.

* * *

But even proposed half cent increase on present huge volume would go long way to wipe out current losses. Naturally, there is strong opposition to this move by those who enjoy special privilege of a government tax subsidized advertising service.

Reading Must Not Be Neglected in the Public Schools

Dr. Guy L. Bond of the University of Minnesota talked on "Reading" at the Canyon Rotary luncheon Tuesday. He is delivering a series of lectures at West Texas State this week.

The United States is recognized the world around for the excellence of reading taught in the public schools. While India has a population 88% illiterate, this country has the smallest percentage in the world.

It is much easier to teach a child the piano than it is to read properly. Yet, no other art course takes the part or place of reading. The armed forces discovered that boys who had not advanced beyond the 5th grade are a menace since they could not read or comprehend reading.

Every school has assumed the responsibility of teaching correct reading. The speaker paid high tribute to the teachers in the public school who are devoting so much time to teaching reading.

According to the national survey, about 1 out of every 10 persons who gets into serious trouble cannot read.

"It is high time a look be taken at the reading problem of the public schools. The teachers need a great deal more assistance than we are now giving them," was his conclusion.

Visitors were: Don Walters of Oklahoma City; Rev. Harry Wilbanks and John Mills of Dallas; Capt. McSpadden of Canyon; Knox Kinard and L. J. Edmondson of Pampa; T. E. Ward of Borger; E. W. Williams of Lubbock; Harold Wilde of Huntsville, Ala.; Forrest Barnes, Oran Thomas, Chas. Young, Roy Pool, Guy A. Carlander, Tolly Jones, Leonard Nussbaum, E. L. Roberts, Allen Early, Jr., R. B. Norman, all of Amarillo.

Dr. Dudley Moore gave a short report on Vocational Activities planned for the year, and Dr. J. A. Hill reported on the Golden Anniversary committee's work.

President Frank Morgan reported on the finance drive being made by the Boy Scouts in Canyon.

National Telephone Numbers in Future

In speaking of the progress made by the Bell Telephone System in recent years, Oran Thomas, district manager of the company, told the Lions Club last Wednesday that national telephone numbers will be assigned within two years time.

The new numbers will be ten digits with the first three digits representing certain districts, the second three numbers representing the call letters such as Drake, Garfield, etc. and the last four numbers completing the number of the place or business. In this way a person can place a call to New York, San Francisco, or anywhere in the United States by dialing the number. No waiting will be involved, as mechanical devices will electrically select the best of open channels.

The new system is already in operation in Inglewood, Calif., on an experimental basis. Mr Thomas expects the new set-up within two years time.

Two films were shown describing the new system.

Visitors at the Lions Club were Ted Stanley and Guy Killian.

Canyon Travelers in London With Royalty

Mrs. E. D. Harrell (right) and Miss Alice Payne (center) on an extended trip over Europe, pictured above with Lady Molly Huggins at a tea last week at the Dorchester Hotel in London. Mrs. Harrell and Miss Payne are touring Europe with Robert Kazmayer, writer and publisher. Lady Huggins, who met with members of the Kazmayer party, is running for election to the House of Commons on the Conservative ticket. Lady Huggins reported that Sir Winston Churchill, Prime Minister and leader of the Conservative Party, though in good health, is generally expected to turn the reins of government over to a successor before the next General Election. After England the Canyon travelers expect to visit Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France. They are expected home in mid-September.

Ford and GM Set For Big Battle of Cars

By EDWARD H. SIMS
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON: Ford and General Motors seem headed for a showdown battle over the best-selling automobile in the United States and the crucial round in the struggle will come in 1955.

General Motors is guarding its plans for the 1955 Chevrolet — with which it hopes to regain the sales lead—carefully. The company was so shocked when the Wall Street Journal recently revealed some of the 1955 changes that it withdrew its large advertising account from the paper.

Not only are General Motors and Ford girding for a sales battle in 1955, Chrysler hopes to change the Plymouth enough to put it once again into a really competitive sales position.

Sales of new cars this year are not expected to top 5,000,000—which is still near the all-time record—but next year the competition will be even keener and sales probably higher and all of major producers of the lowest priced best sellers will be offering the public important innovations.

It doesn't look as if prices will come down at the moment, but it appears certain the steel pay increase won't push prices up either. The biggest change is likely to appear in the cars themselves—the 1955 models—and not in price or sales total.

The 1955 models are expected to hit the market in December or January, or perhaps a bit earlier this year. Besides, Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth, major changes are expected in most of the Chrysler cars; Pontiac, Packard, and other Ford Company automobiles are among those expected to offer major changes.

Just Between You, Me . . . . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

Now that the big primary election is over the public can turn its attention to more worthwhile things, like the general election this fall. Speaking of elections brings to mind a thought for reflection, there are probably only a few people who know the duties of each of the offices to which a person was elected in Saturday's election. This information should be known by every voter but is too often neglected for more recreational time.

The various markets in town could use a tantalizing aroma to help sell their products if they wanted to. One of the most delightful smells for a hungry shopper is that of barbecue. There was such an aroma at the market Friday afternoon and it caught the attention of several people doing their weekly shopping.

Apologies to Boone McClure. He helped us out with some research work and upon request left the books out for further research. Then for more than a week we didn't get back to the research task. It was one of those things of one thing leading to another and everything leading away from what should have been done. Wonder if anyone else ever has such trouble?

If the girls in the Canyon Drug and The Pharmacy weren't so very understanding, a lot of people would be going around with lumps on their heads. These girls put up with all sorts of people, happy, slap-happy, sad, and distracted, and yet they do their jobs efficiently and with a smile. Well, at least they smile part of the time.

Talked to County Agent John Brazzil Saturday. He reported that the rain of last week wasn't much over the entire Canyon area but was enough to help greatly. If we could only get a little more moisture in the near future we could report a wonderful chance to make a bumper grain sorghum crop. He also added that the wheat crop recently harvested was very good for the conditions we had. The wheat had to buck such things as a late freeze, wind and sand storms, drouth and just about the time for harvest hail and beating rains.

From all reports Dr. J. B. Roberts is enjoying his new home. He has frequent gatherings of friends and there is frequent use of the barbecue pit in the back yard. One of America's greatest assets is the democratic atmosphere of the individuals. The good things one person has are enjoyed by all his friends and neighbors.

Dennis Ford, one of the instructors at West Texas State College, recently sold his home and has moved to Austin. He is working on his doctorate and will be at Austin for a year or so doing resident work. The moving was quite a task and during the time the family was rather scattered. Dennis was in Austin, Mrs. Ford was here, and the two children, Kathy and Linda, were in Cameron.

Richmond Payne was home for a short while last week. He had just completed his basic training at Ft. Bliss in El Paso and was on his way to Maryland. He is assigned to 12 weeks of training at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

All members of the VFW Club and the Auxiliary are reminded of the big area meeting being held at the club Saturday night. In the meeting the Canyon club is hosting Hereford, Silverton, and Tulia. It promises to be a swell-elegant night for the VFW members and Auxiliary members of this area.

Always fun to report a fishing trip. Crawford Kiker was telling us that Albert Byars recently returned from a fishing trip to the Rio Grande. The trip was reported a success as Albert brought back several large catfish. Reporting a fishing trip is much more fun when you can say you brought the big ones back home and the little ones got away.

Wind-Up

The second session of the 83rd Congress will end soon. We are approaching the final days.

As is always the case near the end of a session, we are putting in long hours. There is the usual last-minute rush to get through important legislation. Inevitably, some measures which should be acted on will fall by the wayside.

This has been a session of hard work. I can say, in all sincerity, that the men with whom I serve in the Senate are as industrious and hard-working a group as I have ever seen in action.

Texas Comes First

My first duty, as Senator from Texas, is to Texans. I have tried to keep this fact in mind.

I don't believe I remember any session of Congress, during my service in the House and the Senate, when so many matters of particular importance to Texas were up for action. I have tried during this session to contribute everything I could toward resolving these matters satisfactorily and in the best interests of the people of Texas.

Texas Projects

From time to time, reports have been carried here of my efforts with respect to specific Texas projects — such as Ferrell's Bridge Dam, Gonzales Dam and Reservoir, Canyon Dam, Bosque Dam, Brady Creek Watershed, and many others.

Just last week, Senator Price Daniel and I were able to announce that survey work will be resumed this year by the Corps of Engineers on Lake Liberty, one of the largest units of the Trinity River improvement program. We hope, too, that authorization of a salt water barrier at the mouth of the Trinity will be included in the Rivers and Harbors Bill scheduled to be enacted before Congress adjourns.

The Texas City tin smelter will continue operations. Texas will benefit tremendously from the Federal highway aid bill we passed. I have continued my efforts to get adequate drouth relief for Texas farmers and cattlemen. We passed the Atlanta State Park bill. We successfully resisted efforts to pare down the percentage depletion allowance for oil and gas, so important to Texas.

These are but a few of the scores of legislative matters affecting Texas on which I have worked during this session.

Big Government

It is a truism that government has become big and complicated. But I have a theory that, at bottom, government need be no more complicated than the relationship between the people and their elected representatives in the Government.

Speaking personally, the relationship between me and the people of Texas is quite simple. Anybody can write me a letter. Thousands of Texans do write me every week. They all get answers to their letters. Through these letters, through long-distance telephone conversations with people in every part of Texas, and through the visits of Texans to Washington, I keep in close touch with the thinking of the men and women I represent.

That is a simple relationship. But it is important. It is the kind of relationship between me and the people of Texas that I hope and expect to maintain so long as I am in the Senate.

Texas Progress

We had a luncheon honoring "Mr. Million" of Houston — Barney C. McCasland, Jr., the millionth citizen of the Bayou City — when he was in Washington recently. The luncheon gave us an opportunity to examine the progress not only of the city of Houston but of our entire State.

Since the year 1929, the rate of increase in Texas' population has been very nearly twice the rate of the national increase. In 1929, per capita income in Texas was only 68 per cent of the national per capita income. But in 1952, the last year for which comparative figures are available, Texas' per capita income was 89 per cent of the national average per capita income.

We still have our problems, of course. But it seems to me that Texans have every reason to face the future with confidence. We are on our way to bigger and better things — in the cities and towns, everywhere throughout the State.

Safety Must Be Present in Any Happy Vacation

"Let safety share your vacation trip."

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, made that plea for safe driving in connection with the vacation driving program being sponsored by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"Vacation driving," he said, "increases substantially during the months of July and August. Statistics show that fatal traffic accidents also are more frequent during these months than in earlier months of the year."

Col. Tilley pointed out that motorists in the United States drove 49 billion miles during July last year. This was an 11 per cent increase over the average mileage driven during the first six months of the same year. August saw a total mileage of 50 billion, 14 per cent more than the average for the first six months.

"At the same time, motor vehicle accident fatalities in July were up 10 per cent over the average for the first six months," he said. "And in August the fatalities were up 29 per cent from the average."

"Vacationists planning to take a motor trip this summer," he said, "should remember that preliminary planning, as well as care, courtesy and alertness at the wheel are needed to avoid serious traffic accidents.

"I want to stress especially the importance of courtesy to traffic safety," Col. Tilley said. "The driver who wants to avoid accidents makes courtesy his code of the road. He also is quick to recognize and acknowledge the courteous acts of others."

To aid motorists in planning their vacation trips, he listed the following safety tips:

1. Plan your trip so that you have plenty of time to reach your destination and return, without speeding or driving when fatigued.
2. Learn driving regulations of the states you expect to travel through before you start on your trip.
3. If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive.
4. Watch for and heed all road signs and posted speed limits.
5. Have your car (and trailer if you are going to use one) completely safety checked so that you are sure that everything is in first class condition mechanically.
6. Load your car carefully so that luggage and equipment do not interfere with vision, will not shift dangerously in an emergency.

"And remember the July slogan of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council, 'Vacation Time — Make Courtesy Your Code of the Road.' It's good advice," the Colonel said.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

While securing data on which Federal Trade Commission is making investigation of couponing practices, the National Federation of Independent Business found even a guess cannot be made on yearly cost of coupons to nations independent grocers.

* * *

C. W. Harder

Independent grocers lose on coupons two ways.

* * *

Usually, the huge couponing corporations agree to pay the grocer 1c service charge on each coupon received.

* * *

Thus, the grocer takes the item out of stock, and gives it to the customer for a coupon and cut price, often less than grocers cost. Theoretically he receives from the corporation the amount of the discount, plus the 1c handling fee. But even at best, part of the grocers working capital is tied up weeks, or months, in coupons. Thus big corporation schemes to wreck independent manufacturing competition in an area is partly based on working on independent grocer's money.

* * *

But processing coupons is expensive. A big national chain operation now demands the usual 1c handling fee be raised to 2¾c on the basis their figures show it actually costs them 2¼c to handle every coupon they receive.

* * *

However, independent grocers take an even greater loss than chains. Corporations, because of the club wielded by chains, will pay off coupons held by chains, with no questions asked but a number of subterfuges are used to delay or avoid payment altogether to independent grocers.

* * *

For example, there is the dating procedure. Some coupons carry an expiration date. If Mrs. Jones doesn't present it before expiration, her grocer probably fails to notice the date. In any event, he knows nearest chain will accept coupon regardless of date because it can collect. But independent grocers are left holding the bag.

* * *

There is also the "not stocked" basis for refusal to pay. Sometimes an item is couponed a grocer does not usually stock, but to accommodate customers presenting coupons, he will stock for a few weeks to cover coupons. But when he sends the coupons into the corporation to get his money back, payment is refused on grounds grocer does not carry item. Sometimes the corporation will be gracious, however, agreeing to honor the coupons if grocer places an order for several times a normal supply of the item.

* * *

Other dodges which prevent independent grocers from collecting on coupons turned into them are being explored by FTC probe. However, a pretty clear picture is emerging which shows toll being taken from independent business and public.

* * *

Whenever one of these corporations decides an independent manufacturer is too strong in some area, it moves in with coupons delivered to every home in a city at a loss to the Post Office, thus costing taxpayers. Then grocers, chain and independent alike, are forced to serve as banking centers for this spurious coupon currency at a loss, and independents suffer still further and buyers of item in areas not couponed pay a price which permits corporation to use these tactics to attack independent manufacturers. Thus, ironically, every time a housewife presents a coupon she is unknowingly helping to destroy independent business payrolls, perhaps her own families income.

Public Health Dept. Acts Quickly When Disaster Is Present

AUSTIN: It took just 3½ hours for the state disaster relief organization, operating through its control center in the bomb-proof basement of the new Department of Public Safety building in Austin, to assemble a complete 60-bed hospital set-up and arrange for airlifting it to Piedras Negras, Mexico, the border town so tragically stricken during the late-June flood disaster on the Rio Grande.

Word of the need was received at the control center about 7 p.m., June 30. By 10:30 p.m. the last item had been located and slated for airlifting via U. S. Air Force planes.

It began with a telephone call from Eagle Pass, Texas, to the desk of the health department representative at the control center. The caller reported a wave of heat stroke and diarrhea, created by exertion of salvage work in the death-like calm and extreme humidity which followed in the wake of a 22-inch rain.

Needed immediately were beds, mattresses, linens, solutions of salts and nutrients to replace salt and body fluids lost to perspiration, vomiting and diarrhea. Sulfathiazole, needed as a treatment drug; typhoid vaccine for a vaccination program; and tubes, needles and various accessories were also requested.

Dr. T. E. Dodd, the State Department of Health representative on the control center staff, immediately contacted the State Health Department Biologics Division, where a shipment of individual typhoid shots was readied.

Being the only physician present, Dr. Dodd estimated amounts of intravenus fluids needed and decided on types to be sent.

He recommended that in addition to the sulfathiazole, injectable slow-absorbable penicillin and a generous supply of the newer antibiotics be included. The penicillin was to be used for children and adult vomiting cases.

His recommendations were relayed across the table to Marvin R. Warren, Federal Civil Defense Administration representative, who got them from a civil defense warehouse in Lake Charles, La.

In the interest of economy, and because of the important weight differences, canvass cots were substituted for hospital beds and mattresses. C. E. Anderson, United States Public Health Service representative, procured them with a telephone call to the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation.

The Red Cross state relations representative, Ralph Husted, arranged for airlifting the supplies to Eagle Pass since there is no field at Piedras Negras. At Eagle Pass the materials were unloaded, reloaded into helicopters, and flown to Piedras Negras.

Farm Bureau Takes Up Fight For the Milk Producers

WACO: The Texas Farm Bureau will urge city governments in Texas to raise minimum butterfat requirements of milk to 4 per cent as a means of improving the present plight of dairy farmers.

The state farm organization has approved a plan for instituting a state-wide promotional campaign that would result in butterfat moving into consumption instead of into surplus dairy by-products.

The 4 per cent minimum wanted by the Farm Bureau is .75 over the present state minimum of 3.25 per cent.

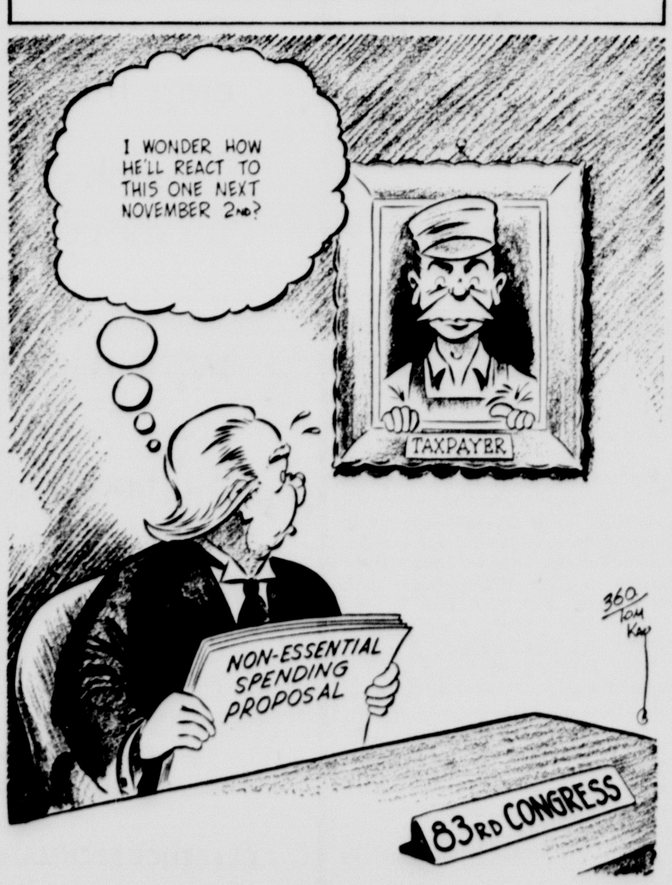

Many dairy leaders contend that an increase in the butterfat content of milk will help solve the surplus butter situation and increase consumption of liquid milk by marketing a more wholesome product.

Butterfat requirements for milk were lowered during World War II when butter was scarce. Now that cheaper margarine has largely replaced butter on the American dinner table, butter and other milk by-products have been moving into government storage.

The action taken by the TFB Board of Directors is in line with policies adopted by voting delegates to TFB's annual convention last November.

Under the promotional program, the Texas Farm Bureau will work with Farm Bureaus in urging city governments to bring milk up to the standards of natural content. Farm Bureau will urge passage of ordinances requiring that all grade A milk sold within corporate city limits contain not less than 4 per cent butterfat.

OUR DEMOCRACY——by Mat

THE FIRST APPEARANCE OF THE MOTTO ON OUR COINS WAS ON A BRONZE TWO-CENT PIECE MINTED IN 1864 IN PHILADELPHIA. NOW OUR GOVERNMENT HAS ISSUED ITS FIRST REGULAR STAMP PROCLAIMING TO THE WORLD "IN GOD WE TRUST." IT IS AN EIGHT-CENT STAMP, USED PRINCIPALLY FOR INTERNATIONAL MAIL, AND SERVES AS ANOTHER REMINDER OF THE FAITH ON WHICH OUR DEMOCRACY WAS FOUNDED.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

What Happened to the Postal Pay Bill

Briefly, here is what happened when an attempt was made to force the passage of a cross-breed postal bill that did not have prior committee approval.

The history of the legislation this session is that the Post Office Committee had considered several bills, each of which dealt with a separate and distinct subject. One of these bills having to do with postal pay increases was reported out favorably by the committee and sent to the Rules Committee.

There were only two ways that the bill could come before the entire House of Representatives for final disposition. One was for the Rules Committee to grant a rule on the bill and send it to the House for consideration. This the Rules Committee did not do, and obviously did not intend to do.

The other way to get the bill up for consideration was to obtain the signatures of 218 members of the House on a discharge petition. This is an almost impossible procedure and very few bills have ever been voted out under the discharge petition route.

However, since it appeared that the democratic processes were being thwarted, many of the Members who very seldom sign discharge petitions came forward, as did I, and signed the petition to bring the bill before the House. When it appeared that there was a possibility of obtaining the 218 signatures, the majority leaders got together and decided to prepare a new bill that tried to do everything for everybody and did nothing for anyone, to by-pass the committees and force the bill down the Members' throats, whether they liked it or not, to limit debate to 40 minutes and prohibit any amendment of the bill.

In order to do this, it was necessary to suspend all of the rules of the House. To suspend the rules, the consent of two-thirds of the Members voting is required. In one of the House manuals concerning rules, the following statement is made about suspensions, "Suspension of the rules is not a normal legislative procedure. In a sense, it is a trifle affair, in that it limits debate and does not permit the right of amendment, but there are times when suspension of the rules is vitally necessary to dispatch public business, and the Chair must use his discretion when he believes it is in the interest of a large majority of the House." This statement was made by Speaker Nicholas Longworth on February 28, 1931.

The attempt to force through this legislative monstrosity failed for several reasons. Some opposed it on the grounds that it did not provide the proper raise or distribution of raise for postal employees, others because it raises postal rates on non-local first class mail from three cents to four cents. First class mail is already paying a profit of $105,000,000; this proposed raise would increase the cost to those using this service and provide an additional $159,000,000.

It was widely felt that this was an undue imposition on that part of the Post Office that is already paying its own way and has for some time. Others opposed the bill because it provided a method by which the Postmaster General could write certain rules and regulations, and if these were not vetoed by the Congress within a specified time, they would become law.

This, to me, was one of the worst features of the entire bill. It is actually legislating in reverse. Our founding fathers never intended any such procedure, and because they knew that such a policy could easily result in dictatorial practices by persons and small groups who were not elected by the people and not answerable directly to them.

Shortly after the rules suspension failed, enough signatures were obtained on the discharge petition to bring the original bill before the Congress on August 9. There will be an attempt to adjourn the Congress before that time. Adjournment would mean no postal bill this session. However, the Rules Committee can bring out the bill already approved by the committee, as they should have done in the first place, and the House can consider it any time the leadership wants them to.

The Indo-China Truce

Where Russia will move next is anybody's guess, but move she will. She has gained ground and saved face in the last two attempts. Whether we like it or not, we must admit that the Korean truce released certain men, material, and equipment for the Reds to use in Indo-China. That they did use it to put on the pressure in Indo-China is a foregone conclusion.

Now that the pressure is off of her in Indo-China, the question is not whether Russia will move, but where she will move. It is my frank opinion that it will either be in the Near East or Europe. Recent events would indicate that the Near East will likely get the nod.

AMITY CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. ROSA LOWRY FRIDAY

The Amity Club met Friday afternoon, July 23, in the home of Mrs. Rosa Lowry. Mrs. Beulah Davis, club president, presided at the meeting. Twelve members answered the roll call by giving her maiden name and year and place that she was married.

Club members pay no dues so it was decided to fine each member one cent for not calling the members by their given names. This rule was enforced during the club hour and the amount received went to the club flower fund.

After the business session Rosa Lowry showed some rocks and shells she and her husband had gathered on their travels and gave a short history of each.

Refreshments of angel food cake, ice cream and punch were served to Beulah Davis, Bertie Terry, Irrie Cone, Myrtle Wester, Jocil Combs, Girtie Danner, Annie Long, Mary Wright, Lillian Fain, Loys Gill, Mary Burtz, and Rosa Lowry. Assisting Mrs. Lowry were Mrs. Combs and Mrs. Wright.

Next meeting of the club will be held August 27 at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Irrie Cone.

Citizenship Must Be Observed to Be Fully Appreciated

Most of us accept with little thought our American citizenship and the rights and privileges it bestows. We might do well to reflect upon what it takes to become a citizen of the United States under our present laws. Many of us would probably be unable to pass some of the requirements if called upon to do so.

One of these requirements is that the applicant for citizenship may be able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the court a knowledge of the Constitution of the United States and the principles which it affirms. In addition, he must show fairly comprehensive knowledge of the workings and organization of the American government.

But that is only a small part of the process of becoming a naturalized citizen. To begin with, an applicant for citizenship (if he is an ordinary case) must have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence. Then he must be entered on the registry of the Commissioner of Immigration, acquire an alien registration card, and receive a certificate of arrival from the Immigration Department.

Some time later he will receive a letter from the government telling him where he must file a declaration to become a citizen — commonly known as "first papers." He may file this declaration shortly after he arrives in this country but not before he is 18 years of age.

After he has lived in the United States five years, and his first paper is at least two years old the future citizen may file a petition for naturalization, known as "second papers." He must have lived in the state in which he filed for at least six months.

He will then be called for two hearings — one before the immigration authorities, and the second in federal court. At this time he must be able to speak and understand the English language, and he will be questioned regarding the Constitution, history of the United States and the government organization.

After 30 days the applicant will be notified to appear at the court for a final hearing on his petition. When the court grants a petition for naturalization, the applicant takes the oath of renunciation and allegiance — he renounces allegiance to the foreign state of which he is a subject or citizen, and promises to bear allegiance to the United States.

The court may deny the application. The laws relating to the granting of citizenship are strictly observed. Omissions, oversights, mistakes—all doubts in relation to the application are decided in favor of the government.

Some classes of applicants are exempted from several of the usual naturalization requirements. Certain requirements are waived for aliens married to citizens of the United States; for certain veterans of the armed forces; for former citizens who lost their citizenship by serving in Allied armed forces during the two world wars, and others.

August Bride

JANET LUCILLE JOHNSON

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Johnson of Canyon are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Janet Lucille, to Marvin Lee Roark, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Roark of Vega. The wedding is to take place on August 30 in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the West Texas State College campus.

One of those hot days last week, when we could hardly make it from kitchen to living room, we strolled around the block at dusk to try to cool off. A neighbor invited us to come sit in the yard, and introduced her five-year-old nephew.

He was as full of life as we were listless. He dashed into the house to bring out a box of stones, which we looked at, rock by rock, while he turned somersaults, asked questions, and capered around us. He made half a dozen other trips into the house, got into outlandish positions around and under the lawn chairs. He climaxed his performance by squirming along on his back around the circle — a feat that would have taken at least two pounds off of some of the rest of us, if we could have performed it.

The energy he was throwing to the winds would have moved mountains if harnessed. Yet apparently it took no effort. Actually it seemed less trouble for him to wriggle and hop than it would have to keep still — if he had ever considered that as a possibility.

As we watched the little elf, we forgot the weather, our own steaming forehead, and the surroundings. We recalled those wonderful summer evenings when we were ever so much younger — when the family moved chairs into the yard and we lay on our back looking upward. The soft hum of grownup small talk, the cool touch of the grass beneath us, and high above the blue dome sprinkled with stars — was something special. Thanks to a five-year-old, we had a new spring in our step as we walked home that hot evening.

Canyon Pastor To Conduct Revival In Happy Soon

Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canyon, has been asked to preach in a revival of the First Baptist Church of Happy beginning Friday night, July 30, through August 8. Rev. Atkinson has preached many such revivals all over the state with fine success.

The music will be directed by Harrell Slack, a native of Canyon. Harrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burney Slack, has been in Baylor University for the past two years. While in Baylor he has been a member of the men's choir organization called the Bards and has this year been elected a member of Phi Mu Alpha fraternity which is a national music fraternity. He has directed and helped with the music in several revivals over the state. For the past part of the summer, he has been employed by the First Baptist Church of Happy as music-education director.

Rev. C. B. Hogue is the pastor.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower sometimes rides an electric buggy over the second nine holes of an 18-hole round of golf. Until recently the President walked all the way.

Richard Nixon, Vice President, tackling golf with enthusiasm, recently shot an 86. Mr. Nixon played his first game of this sport only a short while ago.

Mr. Eisenhower of late has shown irritation over the way the National Security Council gets bogged down in detail. This is the organization that is supposed to keep one jump ahead of Russia's V. M. Molotov, but it's been having trouble catching up with him.

The President is not happy over developments that led him to accept a truce in Korea, marking the first victory since the War of 1812, to be followed now by actual defeat for an American ally in a war in Indo-China. Chinese Communists, who only took power in 1950, can claim to have won two wars against major world powers within one year.

Sir Winston Churchill and the British empire he heads are left with the world's only remaining little wars. The British are still fighting the Communists in their protectorate of Malaya and the Communist-run Mau Mau in the British colony of Kenya.

In the House of Commons, after the Communists were given Northern Indo-China, the Churchill Government was asked by a Conservative member of Parliament: "May I ask my right honorable friend whether any statement is to be be made about Geneva? Can he tell me how far Geneva is from Munich?" The answer is: about 300 miles, or one hour by air.

It was noted that Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, did not remark that the trade of territory for a truce in Indo-China would "assure peace in our time."

Coolness of the French Assembly toward the U. S. is the subject of talk among Washington officials. When Premier Mendes-France reported on the Indo-China truce, he paid tribute to both the U. S. and British—especially to Foreign Secretary Eden. The Assembly sat silent at the tribute to U. S., cheered the mention of Britain and Eden.

Dean Acheson's friends are pointing out that, as Secretary of State, he never did agree to anything that formally accepted Communist conquest of territory. Democratic Senators now are showing interest in an agreement made by the present Administration not to upset the truce in Indo-China, giving a sort of back-handed admission that this country might have had aggressive intentions.

Harold Stassen, in charge of giving away American dollars to people abroad, is convinced that the need for money to be sent into Southeast Asia will be greater than ever, now that the Communists are taking over a slice of Indo-China. American equipment and supplies to be left behind for the Communists to take over will be considered as left there for the benefit of the people.

Charles Wilson, Defense Secretary, is turning to the Bible to advise his aides, as well as generals and admirals, on proper rules of administration. Mr. Wilson tells the story of Jethro who criticized his son-in-law, Moses, for trying to do too much himself. Moses learned a lesson and, as result, the Bible says (Exodus 18:26): "The hard causes they brought unto Moses, but every small matter they judged themselves." Mr. Wilson's paraphrased advice is this: "Run your own shows, you have full responsibility, but don't be afraid to kick a few up to Moses if you have to."

Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Senator, is under strict advice from his doctors to cut down on the tempo of his activities. Friends of the Senator say that he is feeling the nervous and physical strain of the pressures that have been put upon him.

Walter Bedell Smith, Under Secretary of State, still is making plans to retire later this year. The President has pressed him to remain, but Mr. Smith wants to enter private business. Robert Murphy, Deputy Under Secretary, a professional Foreign Service officer, is in line for the position if and when Mr. Smith leaves.

High officials in the military services feel now that this country will be lucky to be able to retain its important air bases in North Africa longer than about three years. If forced out of North Africa by the French, the Air Force will hope to expand base facilities in Spain.

Herbert Hoover, former President, is working closely with President Eisenhower on plans to get the Government out of many business enterprises that grew up during the New Deal years.

Crow-Neal Engagement Announced

MISS RITA JO CROW

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crow announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rita Jo, to Harrold Wayne Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Neal of Goodnight. Vows will be exchanged on August 14 in Joseph A. Hill Chapel.

The home of Mrs. Crow was the setting for an evening tea announcement on July 14 from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Crow and Rita Jo while Mrs. Carl Gene Crow presided at the white leather bound bride's book, presented to the bride-elect by Mrs. J. J. Walker and hand painted by Mrs. Crow.

Miss June Davis and Mrs. Win Holloway furnished soft piano music while friends were served refreshing cherry punch, cookies, nuts, mints and sugar dipped cherries.

The tea table was laid with a white satin brocaded dinner cloth overlaid with nylon netting of pastel pink. Draped corners of the netting were accented with bows of pink and white satin ribbon. Centering the table were two enterlacing open hearts of pink and white shirred tulle. Embedded in tuffs of pink tulle studded with sweetheart rose buds, a large bow of pink satin ribbon held a miniature white lace and silver wedding slipper. From this extending to ends of the table were white satin ribbon streamers bearing the announcement, Rita Jo and Harrold — August 14. The names were handpainted with small forget-me-nots centered with silver.

The table appointments were of crystal and silver.

Mrs. J. J. Walker and Mrs. R. A. Hodges ladled punch. Mrs. I. F. SoRelle and Mrs. Lonnie Byars assisted in the house party.

The cool delightful reception rooms were attractively lighted with arrangements of garden flowers.

Seventy-five guests called during the receiving hours.

Mrs. C. M. Dowlen acted as the chairman. Mrs. E. C. Wiseman gave the devotional. Mrs. Piner Stevens presented a playlet entitled "Summer Xmas," with Mesdames L. L. Hill, Lillie Foster, M. L. Sherrod, and Bennie Woods taking part.

The group sang "Bringing in the Sheaves." Miss Moss Richardson discussed the Mary Johnston Hospital in Manila and the white rag supplies it needs; The Mission Home; and Training School for Girls.

Refreshments were served to 12 members by Misses Hila Begert and Jannett Swift.

French To Dump To Reds Billions of Dollars Worth of Military Stuff

WASHINGTON: There are reports from French Indochina that the French army will be forced to abandon much military equipment furnished by the United States in the next few weeks. The French, it is said, cannot hold Hanoi, and will do well to get their troops out; they cannot evaluate all their equipment.

This comes as a sour note to United States officials, because the U. S. has poured out hundreds of millions of dollars to the French in Indochina (in the way of aid and military equipment) for years. Once before, when the Chinese Nationalists were unable to keep their U.S. supplied equipment from falling into Red hands, the United States supplied hostile armies with a vast amount of military equipment.

In China whole Nationalist units went over to the Communist side. In Indochina, Vietnamese units have sometimes done the same thing. But most of the U. S. equipment expected to fall into Communist hands there may be left in the Hanoi area, because of the inability of the French to remove it via the sea.

Both mistakes have resulted from incorrect appraisals of the fighting ability of the anti-Communist forces involved. The Nationalist soldier would not fight for Chiang Kai-Shek as some hoped he would, and sometimes defected to the Communists.

In Indochina, the French were hated by Vietnamese as much as the Reds, and the loyalty of the people of Vietnam was never achieved. Vietnamese units often refused to fight to the last, or fight at all, against the Reds. Thus U. S. equipment and ammunition were not always used against the Communists, as intended. Instead, it equipped units of the Chinese Communist armies after Kai-Shek's fall, and may help equip the Communist armies in Indochina in the near future.

The automobile industry will make its bid to spur business activity within the next six months.

While the present prospect for 1954 new-car sales is not causing smiles among industry officials, there is some optimism about new models to be shown between now and December.

Chevrolet is designing a new car to retake the sales leadership from Ford in 1955, and major changes are probably to be made in body styles. GM is sensitive over details of these changes and when the Wall Street Journal recently ran a drawing of the 1955 Chevrolet, GM reacted violently, withdrawing its advertising from the financial publication, among other things!

The Chrysler line is expected to come in for major body changes in an effort to recapture its share of total sales. The Chrysler line has stressed smaller bodies and utility in recent years but it is reported that a return to more luxurious body styles has been forced on the number three automobile corporation. It is said that new Chrysler models will represent revolutionary changes in many cases.

Packard is expected to radically change its 1955 models, following a custom of a major change every three years. Several General Motors cars were changed greatly this year—among them Buick and Oldsmobile. Chevrolet and Pontiac may be expected to get most of the attention this year.

The automobile industry is hopeful that these major changes will boost sales, especially in 1955. Business and economic leaders are almost unanimous in agreeing that 1955 will be a good year, better than 1954, although not a boom year, as was 1951, 1952 and 1953. Car prices are not expected to go up, either, despite the recent pay raise granted by the steel industry.

White Race To Stage War on Segregation

By HARRY DENT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON: In the face of U. S. Supreme Court orders outlawing segregation, there is an organization with headquarters in the nation's capital that is arising to fight the movement toward integration of the races.

Its name is the National Association for the Advancement of White People.

Very few persons have heard of the NAAWP, which was seven months old on July 4. Its main task at present is gaining membership to fight integration efforts.

The white association has headquarters in a renovated office suite in one of Washington's less handsome office buildings on F Street. Its activities are directed by Bryant W. Bowles, a 34-year-old native of Tampa, Fla. The president is an ex-Marine Corps sergeant, a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict.

Bowles maintains he doesn't hate the Negro race. He says he only wants to maintain separation of the races and advance the culture of the white race.

Others dispute his claim, however. Some have charged him with spreading race hate and setting up an organization to make money off white sympathy. Some of his enemies do concede, however, that it is probable he will build up a large following throughout the nation as a result of the recent court decisions. They refer to the NAAWP as a "one-man show."

President Bowles has a board of directors and thousands of recruits backing him. His only office help at present, however, is his wife, who is secretary-treasurer. The vice president is currently being asked to resign for not complying with NAAWP principles.

The president refuses to reveal the total membership thus far, but he claims it runs into the thousands. When interviewed, he admitted his files were so unorganized at that time that he could not say exactly how many followers he does have. When the 50,000th member enrolls, he added, that person will be brought to Washington for a week of festivities. He boasts that it will not be long before that mark will be reached.

Miss Mildred Lawson, of Dyersburg, Tenn., is visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. P. Cornette and family. Dr. and Mrs. Cornette, their son Bill, and Miss Lawson spent the last ten days in Los Angeles, California.

The latest thing I've found in the way of eats is French's instant mashed potatoes. They come in a box that you can keep on the pantry shelf and can be prepared in one minute for the table. Just follow the easy directions on the package.

Mrs. Worth Jennings, Sr., 1407 Third Avenue, and her family are enjoying television more than usual this summer. Mrs. Jennings' granddaughter's husband, Thomas Gwin, is the drummer with Dorsey Bros. Stage Show which is shown every Saturday evening at 6:00 on Channel 10. Mrs. Gwin is the daughter of Mrs. Jennings' daughter Ruth, Mrs. Vester Hill, of Spearman. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gwin are musicians and play with the Dallas Symphony in the winter months. Mrs. Gwin plays the violin and is in New York with her husband for the summer and Mrs. Jennings says they are enjoying many wonderful trips around New York.

Miss Francis Harp and her friend, Miss Janic Mardis, are having a wonderful time in Canada where they are attending the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton. Francis writes the following letter about their experiences:

We have really had a wonderful trip and I am thoroughly sold on the picturesque beauty of the New England states. I believe I enjoyed our stay in Concord, Lexington, and Boston more than any other place. We attended a tea party in Boston of course, and the interesting historical scenes and places made me expect to hear "Yankee Doodle" over a radio immediately after viewing such things as "The Minute Man," "The old North Steeple," and the "Rude bridge that arched the flood," not to mention the start of "Paul Revere's Ride."

We had such a nice visit with Peggy Bishir and her family in Penn. She has such a lovely baby and our visit was something to hear Peg telling us and showing pictures of things and places she saw in Europe while over there.

We have now moved to our permanent rooms at the Lady Beaverbrook building that is our dormitory. We have not been able to figure out how we had such luck, but we were signed up for a room, and they have given us a four room suite with two bedrooms and a big wood fireplace.

July 4th was very quiet for us, but Dominion Day, which is the big day for Canada we went to St. John on the bay of Fundy. The fogs there are something for us to see; they are so thick that you can only see for about one-half block. The fogs along the St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy are very common we learn, and the country is very beautiful when they blow away. The temperature there was between 50 and 60 degrees.

In St. John we had a private tourist home, and found out this home belonged to the high school principal, and they cater to tourist to help out with the teacher's pay, which is way down from what we have at home.

On July 1st, we got to see and hear a big thing for us, the Scottish regiment with their bag pipes and kilts. Their marching and of course their general appearance was very interesting. We hope we got some good pictures of the show.

The food here is very good. There is not as much variety as we have back home but it is plentiful and cooked nicely. We have especially enjoyed the sea foods and that type of food seems very plentiful here.

We are also having to study some, but the hardest job is trying to converse with the other students. They are from everywhere it seems, and we are about the only ones from the States. The French speaking students for instance are practicing their conversational English, and one of them began asking me various questions and I answered yes, oh yes, to nearly everything she said; I thought she was asking me if I was in school, etc., and later found out the gal was asking me about my big ranch back in Texas, and I had admitted having every thing she asked about.

We have met two French girls from Quebec who are studying English. Their father is a lawyer, and we are getting well acquainted with them and enjoy them. We may be helping them learn English, but our French progress is doubtful, but these students here are smart and certainly very pleasant and friendly.

This past week-end we went down to St. Andrews by the Sea. That is a summer resort, and we stayed at the swank Algonquin hotel. Pretty high-powered place for us, and there was much to see; the hotel has its own private beach, tennis, and golfing; TV room, music room, fine library and perhaps a few more special things that I did not get around to seeing.

Here in school we have so many different nationalities, and they are certainly interesting to me. So far I have met people from Greece, Holland, Switzerland, Poland, France, England, Scotland, New Zealand, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, and perhaps some others. Of course Janet takes care of New Mex and I represent Texas.

We have particularly enjoyed talking with the Czech and the girl from Denmark. She can speak six different languages. One friend from India has told us some interesting things. He was taught that it was a sin to look at a girl, and he is just now getting over his early training.

The chemistry department of this school is very outstanding; there are no social cliques here at all; that is something that is nice for strangers and here they go out of their way it seems to be nice to everyone.

The girl from Denmark says "I sink the food is ver good. In Denmark we have no dollars to buy such food."

The climate here is something to brag about, the days are about 50 or 60 degrees and right now if I had the wood I would light a fire in the big fireplace, and we have one in most every room.

Thanks Francis.

Miss Pauline Brigham has returned from a three weeks visit with her two sisters at Vancouver, Washington. Miss Brigham said it was so cold they had a fire in the furnace every night she was there. She also told of the luscious fruit, that they had fresh red raspberries and strawberries every morning for breakfast from their garden and that the flowers were beautiful. Miss Brigham flew home, leaving Vancouver at 10:30 in the evening and arriving in Amarillo at 6:30 the next morning. The trip taking only eight hours.

Mrs. Jeannette Robbins who lives at 1508 8th Ave. not only takes care of her place and it is lovely, but when her neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Otis Parker move to their ranch in the summer time she sees to the watering of their lawn. I understand that this summer the Parkers, thinking this was too much for Mrs. Robbins, hired a man to take care of the watering and that Mrs. Robbins fired him, saying she could take care of the place and no need of hiring anyone. Mrs. Robbins says that when she is gone in the winter time, Mrs. Parker looks after her place also. That is truly Good Neighborliness.

Mrs. Tom C. Gooch, who lives southwest of Canyon, began a new hobby about two years ago of entering contests. She has won many minor prizes — small checks and little things.

Hoping to win a Jeep for her husband to use on the farm, Mrs. Gooch entered the "Roy Rogers Family Contest" telling why she liked a certain cereal better than any other kind. She won not a jeep but a super special bicycle. The bicycle was third prize in the national contest. Mrs. Gooch said winning it was encouraging and that they could use it when their nieces and nephews visited them.

On Friday Mrs. Gooch won first prize in this division of the Southwestern Public Service contest. This division comprises all towns from Happy to Pampa and from Friona to Wheeler. Mrs. Gooch's prize was a G. E. Electric range, and it is needless to say she was delighted.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Irby Carruth, who used to live here, will be interested in knowing their son, Bruce, is with the army and is stationed at present in Tokyo, Japan. Bruce is the grandson of Mrs. Henry Bradford and the nephew of Mrs. Bill Black.

According to the Federal Trade Commission COFFEE will remain at its present high price for at least another year AND if another frost hits in the coffee producing areas it may go even higher. However, there is a new Brazilian coffee shrub that promises yields of five to ten times as much as that from average plantings now in production. This should help production overtake demand within a year. If so my guess is they will burn it like they did before.

The common cold is the most frequent of all diseases. So far neither its cause nor a means of preventing or curing it has been found. The Department of the Army, which is concerned over the loss of time caused among military personnel by colds, has put up $36,000 to finance the study of the common cold.

One thousand Illinois convicts will be used as "guinea pigs" in the study. Only volunteers will be used. It is to be hoped a cure will be found, and we who suffer with colds will owe a debt of gratitude to these doctors and the convicts who allow themselves to be used, when and if they find relief. Probably the most grateful will be the mothers of small children. If they can take "runny" noses from children they will have relieved motherhood of one of its most burdensome tasks.

Miss Mable Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graham, who live south of Canyon, is home for the summer from the Yale School of Nursing at New Haven, Conn., flying home. Mable is working on her Master's Degree in Nursing. The Yale School of Nursing is one of the two universities in the U. S. to offer Master's Degrees in Nursing.

One thing that is bothering men, women, doctors, and science is why men are dying so much younger than women. The average woman outlives her husband 10 to 20 years. This was not true a few years ago. Time was when the average man outlived two or three wives. Well—it just could be due to the difference in their clothing. Women have taken off more and more items of clothing through the years while men still wear about the same. Most buttons have been eliminated from women's clothing while there are still 12 buttons on a man's shirt alone. Think of the energy and time it takes to button all those buttons. Then there is the starched collar men still cling to. Just could be that if men had discarded that collar and their ties when women discarded their whalebone and steel stay corsets men would be living as long today as women.

The Pilgrim Fathers, stern, strict and proper, having little to do in the way of law making, concerned themselves with their women's clothing. Regulating by law, the length of women's sleeves, their skirts and even their collars. Then came the Revolutionary War. The women sent their men to war and while they were gone proceeded to shorten their skirts, sleeves and collars, and with each succeeding war women have taken advantage of their men's absence to discard other items of clothing, until it is a toss-up today as to whether men are more afraid of the atomic bomb in another war, or of what their women folks will discard next in the way of clothing. If the trend continues, one more war might——well at any rate women have lengthened their life span and men have shortened theirs. Since we live under the same conditions, eat the same food, go to the same doctors, it must be clothes.

And, if proven that too much clothing causes the early death of men, the average male would prefer dressing uncomfortable, dying early to exposing his calves, his elbows, or his adams apple to the public view.

"For thou shalt eat the labor of thine hands: happy shalt thou be, and it shall be well with thee." —Psalms 128:2.

Says— "I always look for ECONOMY and my ELECTRIC Home Freezer gives it to me!"

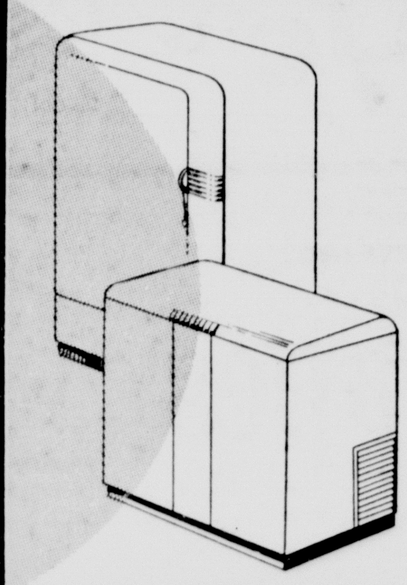

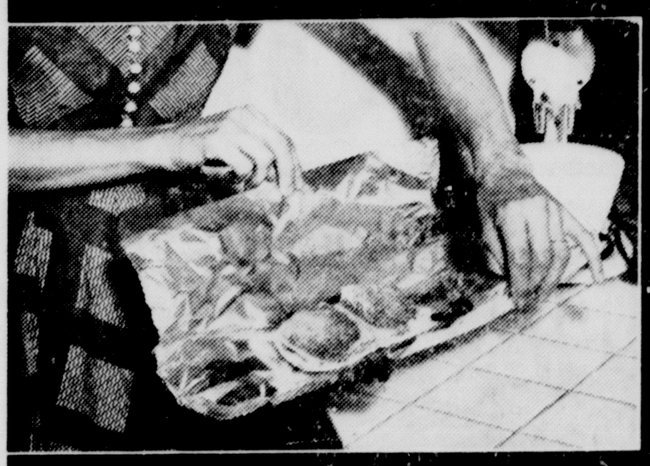

Mrs. E. C. Patton of Guymon, Oklahoma: "I use my left-overs for planned-overs! There are many reasons my home freezer is a saving. I always look for economy, because with four growing boys, it takes plenty of food and clothing."

"Behind my home freezer door, I have a store at home that is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. No more trips to the grocery store when unexpected company drops in. I have complete meals in my freezer which include a variety of meats, vegetables and desserts."

ELECTRIC HOME FREEZERS ARE AVAILABLE IN UPRIGHT OR CHEST MODELS

"I freeze my ground meat in patties, which is a big time saver. Any time my family decides on hamburgers, it takes but a few minutes to have them ready for eating. I also freeze my cakes in slices, so I can take out just the amount needed for meal time."

All homemakers are looking for economy these days, and the home freezer is one of the best places to find it. Better meals at lower cost, with less work, is the assurance a home freezer will give you.

Freezers save as much as $250 a year on food costs, and completely eliminate food waste and spoilage, which "eats up" 10% of the amount of money that you spend for food.
